

Canadian National Railway

Canadian National Railway is liable under CERCLA for releases of hazardous substances at the Ashland/NSP Lakefront Site (the "Site"). Section 107(a) of CERCLA provides that the following four categories of persons are liable under CERCLA:

- Current owners and operators<sup>1</sup> of the Site;
- Past owners and operators who owned or operated the facility at the time that hazardous substances were released;
- Persons<sup>2</sup> who arranged for either the treatment and/or disposal, or the transportation for treatment or disposal of hazardous substances at the facility; and,
- Persons who accepted hazardous substances for transport to disposal or treatment facilities that they selected.

A review of various corporate and historical records indicates that Wisconsin Central Ltd., a wholly-owned subsidiary of Canadian National Railway, is the successor in interest to railroad lines originally developed by the Wisconsin Central Railroad Company<sup>3</sup>, including the trackage that was developed and operated on the Site (see Chronology of Ashland Rail Line, attached as Exhibit A).

A title search and a review of historical operations at the Site shows that the Wisconsin Central began acquiring fee title to property within the Site in the early 1870s for development of a rail line (see Exhibit A and summary of title evidence, attached as Exhibit B). The Wisconsin Central continued to own and operate rail lines at the Site until 1961, when the Wisconsin Central was merged with several other railroad companies. In 1986, the merged entity created a subsidiary called Lake States Transportation Division and transferred ownership of the former Wisconsin Central trackage to the newly-created subsidiary. The following year, Lake States Transportation Division was acquired by Wisconsin Central Ltd. In 2001, Wisconsin Central Ltd. was acquired by Canadian National Railway.

<sup>1</sup> Section 101(21) of CERCLA defines an "owner or operator" as "(i) in the case of a vessel, any person owning, operating, or chartering by demise, such vessel, (ii) in the case of an onshore facility or an offshore facility, any person owning or operating such facility, and (iii) in the case of any facility, title or control of which was conveyed due to bankruptcy, foreclosure, tax delinquency, abandonment, or similar means to a unit of State or local government, any person who owned, or otherwise controlled activities at such facility immediately beforehand."

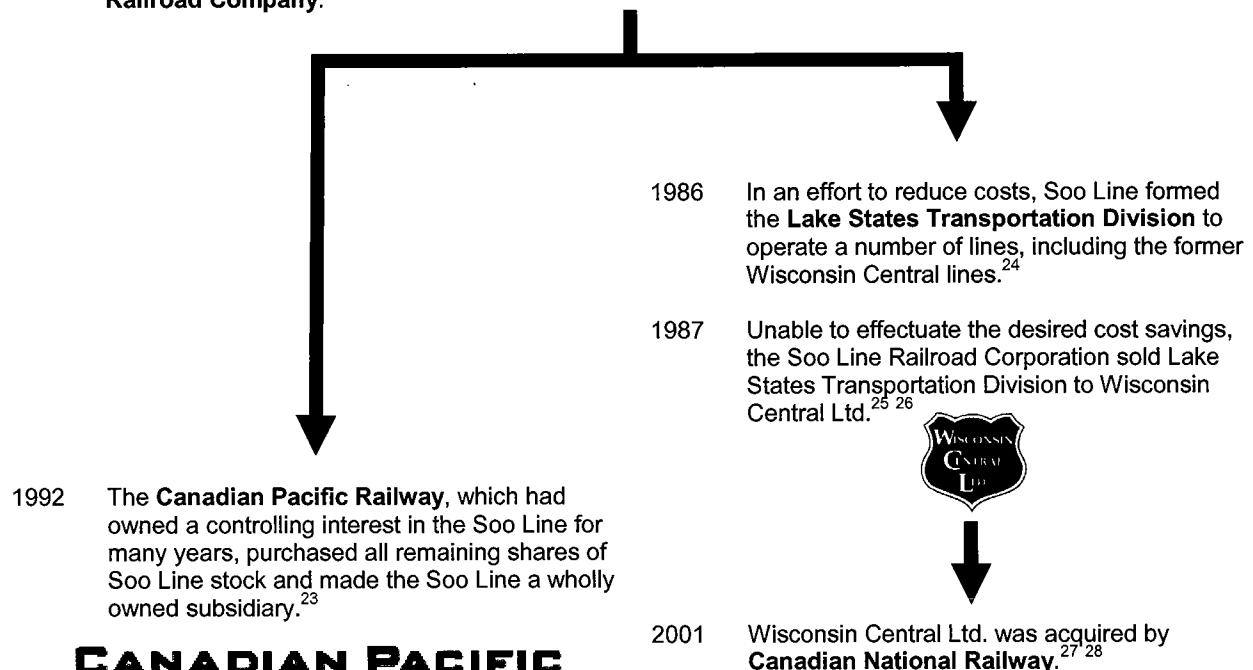

<sup>2</sup> A person is defined in CERCLA Section 101(21) as "an individual, firm, corporation, association, partnership, consortium, joint venture, commercial entity, United States government, State, municipality, commission, political subdivision of a State, or any interstate body."

<sup>3</sup> As indicated by the chronology attached as Exhibit A, the Wisconsin Central Railroad Company was incorporated in 1871 and was reorganized several times throughout its history. The original Wisconsin Central Railroad Company, as reorganized from time-to-time, is referred to herein as the "Wisconsin Central."

Chronology of the Ashland Rail Line

- 1871 The Wisconsin Central Railroad Company was incorporated by special act of the Wisconsin Legislature. The company was granted hundreds of thousands of acres of land along a proposed route from Menasha to Ashland. From 1871 to 1877, Wisconsin Central Railroad Company was in the hands of Phillips & Colby Construction Company, who built the first 326 miles of tracks. Phillips & Colby Construction Company was an affiliate of Wisconsin Central Railroad Company. After 1877, Phillips & Colby Construction Company ceased to function.<sup>1 2 3</sup>
- 1872 The Wisconsin Central Railroad Company built the commercial dock on the Ashland waterfront and began laying track for a line from Ashland to Menasha, marking the beginning of Ashland's development as a shipping center.<sup>4 5</sup>
- 1877 The Wisconsin Central Railroad Company completed the line from Ashland to Menasha.<sup>6</sup>
- 1888 The Canadian Pacific Railway acquired a controlling interest in the Minneapolis, Sault Ste. Marie and Atlantic Railway, consolidating it with the Minneapolis and Pacific Railway, Minneapolis and St. Croix Railway and Aberdeen, Bismarck and North Western Railway to form the Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie Railway (the "Soo Line," after the phonetic spelling of Sault). The Soo Line goes on to acquire a controlling interest in the Wisconsin Central in 1908 (see below).<sup>7 8 9</sup>
- 1899 The Wisconsin Central Railroad Company emerges from receivership, reorganized as the Wisconsin Central Railway Company.<sup>10</sup>
- 1908 The Soo Line acquired a majority ownership interest in the Wisconsin Central Railway Company.<sup>11 12</sup>
- 1909 The Soo Line entered into an agreement pursuant to which it leased all of Wisconsin Central Railway Company's lines for a 99-year period. In this manner, Soo Line acquired control of Wisconsin Central Railway Company, operating it as a separate division.<sup>13 14 15</sup>
- 1944 The Soo Line (i.e. the Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie Railway) was reorganized out of receivership as the Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie Railroad Company. The reorganized company continued to be known as the Soo Line.<sup>16 17 18</sup>
- 1954 The Wisconsin Central Railway Company once again emerges from receivership, reorganized as the Wisconsin Central Railroad Company. The Soo Line continued operating the Wisconsin Central pursuant to an amended operating agreement.<sup>19 20</sup>
- 1961 Three railroads—the Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie Railroad; the Wisconsin Central Railroad Company; and the Duluth South Shore and Atlantic Railway Company—merged to form the Soo Line Railroad Company.<sup>21 22</sup>
